Good Evening!

S.O. battling for GO

Long Weekend.

Yet there are plenty of people who must work so the rest of us can enjoy it.

The policemen will be out on the roads. The safer you drive, the less work for them and the hospital.

After Monday the summer is all over. Schools begin. And there are some youngsters eager to go back. And there are thousands of mothers even more eager to have them go back.

The Russians even make it sound like a joke. Molotov has been sent to Mongolia. Outer Mongolia at that.

Molotov has been named ambassador to that peculiar "republic." There's a job he didn't have much competition to get.

Congressmen ran for the trains and planes yesterday as the long session ended at 4:22 p.m. It wasn't a particularly distinguished session but some memorable legislation was passed.

Now President Eisenhower has to read the bills to see whether they get his signature. This Congress was very stingy with Mr. Eisenhower. He's probably glad to see them go.

Sanford wins his 17th. Twenty coming up.

That's some race Mantle and Williams are running for the batting title. Take a look at how close they are today.

today's activities in the Levittown-A-Rae.

The winner will be chosen from among 16 semi-finalists competing for the award to Levittown's top teen.

The new teen queen will be selected from an original group of 35 of Levittown's prettiest lassies from 13 to 19 years of age.

Joan Bolton, winner of last year's contest, will crown the champion.

Miss Levittown will first appear in a bathing suit and then parade before the judges in an evening gown. She will be picked on the basis of her beauty, poise and personality.

Judges are Jane Travis, prom-tion director of Pomeroy's; Lee Garb, Courier-Times reporter and columnist; Elmer Case, theatrical scene designer and Tom Weatherly, New York theatre producer and author.

To the winner will go the spoils in the form of a weekend stay at El Pocono Dude Ranch, Thornhurst with her parents, a Glen Haven suit from Pomeroy's, a suit case from Grant's and 15 lessons at the Slenderella studio. Other prizes to the top three contestants include shoes from Duvall's a canned ham from Penn Fruit, a $5 gift from Kresge's, and a savings account, with $5 at the Philadelphia National Bank. Yards will present gifts to all finalists.

Actresses Face Stand

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Maureen O'Hara, Corinne Calvet and Mae West are among the cast of Hollywood stars who may be called for their greatest real-life performances next week when the smut-tainted Confidential magazine resumes after Labor Day.

The prosecution hints, but will not confirm, that it stands ready to call any or all of these foot-light queens to the stand — plus some other big names — in its attempt to prove that Confidential lied when it paraded their alleged "sex-capades" in its pages.

Confidential and Whisper magazines and its agents are accused of criminal libel and conspiracy to print obscenity.

Dep. Dist. Atty. William L. Ritz says he will call as rebuttal witnesses next week "some substantial personalities. . . I think I can promise you plenty of action."

He was vague on who the luminaries would be, but answered (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Graham Prepares Last Sermon For New York

NEW YORK (UP) — Billy Graham prepared today to bid a reluctant farewell to New York.

Tonight he preaches his last sermon in Madison Square Garden and Sunday night he is scheduled to hold a "farewell meeting" in Times Square, "the crossroads of the world."

The evangelist said he "hated" to leave New York, the scene of his most impressive evangelistic triumph. Since his crusade to save New York began May 15, more than 1,761,300 persons have attended his rallies and 54,575 have recorded "decisions for Christ."

Ike Wades In On Load Left By Congress

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Democratic congressional majorities which seldom tried to lay a glove on President Eisenhower in his first administration went to the country today with a record of trying to rough him up.

The lawmakers left more than 100 pieces of legislation for Eisenhower to act upon. The President was scheduled to work on some of it at his office today. He won't start his belated summer vacation until after the Labor Day week end.

Republican congressional minorities were still riding over all on the program of the President, who was reelected to a second term by a landslide majority only 10 months ago. Even so, GOP individuals and blocs had cut adrift from the administration on such issues as its record peace-time budget, foreign aid program, farm policy and legislation for federal aid for school construction.

The Democratic-controlled, 1957 edition of Congress adjourned yesterday afternoon until next Jan. 7. As the lawmakers departed, they were already arguing over the record which Eisenhower de-

Growing Caravan Starts On Holiday

Highways officials today kept a close eye on the swelling parade of motorists off for the last big fling of summer.

Most states felt the country's motorists acquitted themselves so well on the Memorial Day and Fourth of July holiday week ends, it was time to give them an official vote of confidence. Few states planned extra police measures over the three-day week end which began at 6 p.m. and ends midnight Monday. A United Press count from 6 o'clock Friday night to 10 a.m. ed showed 30 persons killed in traffic accidents during the first 16 hours of the holiday weekend. One person drowned in Pennsylvania to bring the early fatal accident total to 31.

Police Pension Vote Delayed

A plan to allow Morrisville policemen to retire earlier and with less service than required by the present pension plan was delayed until January by the Morrisville Police Committee last night.

To be eligible for retirement now, Morrisville policemen must be 65 and have served 25 years. The new plan would reduce these requirements to 60 years of age and 20 years service.

The change would require $4,281. This amount will not be (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

Mother, Child Hurt In Crash

A Fergusonville woman and her 16-year-old daughter were injured last night when their car skidded on soft dirt, cracked into a stop sign and crashed against a telephone pole.

Mrs. May McCormack, 54, of 3445 Hilltop Ave. told Edward Martin, Bristol Township police, she was driving on Ford Road and attempted a turn into Newportville Road.

Sadie McCormack suffered a cut over her left eye after her head cracked through the windshield. She received two stitches at Lower Bucks County Hospital. Mrs. McCormack was treated at the hospital for a lacerated nose. Both mother and daughter were released after treatment at the hospital.

The Bucks County Rescu Squad transported the injured to the hospital.

Drivers Charged Early this morning, Bensalem police, charged a Philadelphia driver with reckless driving and a Levittown man with permitting a violation.

The charges stemmed from an accident at Street Road and Ed-

Morrisville Man Held In Trenton Theft

A Morrisville man is being held by Trenton police and charged with the burglary of a Trenton laundry along with four accomplices.

The suspect, Martin L. Kreiser, 27, of Centre St., is being held along with two Trenton men, Fred Morris, 19, and William Lutz, 18, and two Trenton juveniles.

The theft of the Lincoln Laundry and Dry Cleaning Company Aug. 18 netted $827.46.

Morrisville police officers, Joseph DiGiorgio and Clifton Morris, discovered a car owned by Kreiser left disabled outside a Morrisville service station. This led to his arrest and implication in the burglary.

Kreiser is a former employee of the laundry.

Molotov Is Pushed To Mongolian Post

MOSCOW (UP) — Vyacheslav M. Molotov and Lazar M. Kaganovich are on the way to the remote outer reaches of the Soviet sphere of influence, it was reported today.

An official announcement said Molotov, who is a former premier and foreign minister, has been assigned as ambassador to Mongolia, in the wilds between Russia and China.

At the same time, informed sources said Kaganovich — whose last government post was building materials minister — has been appointed manager of a cement factory at Asbest, on the Siberian slope of the Ural Mountains.

It had been announced earlier that Georgi M. Malenkov, who (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

Scoffs Dad's Warning, Dies In Neshaminy

By MAURY ALLEN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The long Labor Day weekend started on a tragic note in Lower Bucks last night as a 13-year-old Eddington boy drowned in the Neshaminy Creek near Bridge-water.

The victim, James Lipsack, 1300 Park Ave., was hauled out of the creek about 7:45 p.m. by members of the Interstate Marine Association.

The creek was dragged for less than ten minutes before the boy's body was found near a boat anchored in the creek.

The boy received artificial respiration to no avail. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Paul C. Gregg, Levittown.

Not Strong Swimmer

John Lipsack, father of the boy, said he had warned his son not to go swimming because he wasn't a strong swimmer.

Bill Irvine, owner of Bill's Boatyard, said the boy came around to the dock about 6:45.

Mr. Irvine said he told the boy not to go into the water then walked away to do some work. "I spotted the boy's clothes along the shore but could not see the lad anywhere," he said.

A young employee, Bill Gardner, was sent to the home of the dead boy to ask if he possibly had returned home in his bathing suit.

Police Summoned

Mr. Irvine said he scoured the creek in his outboard motorboat looking for the boy in the water.

When the Gardner boy returned to the boatyard with no word about the missing boy, police were called.

Sgt. Eugene Ashton and officers William Edwards and George Egely, Bensalem, dispatched the Bucks County Rescue Squad, the Crofton Rescue Squad and the Interstate Marine Association to the rescue.

The boatyard at Route 13 and Totten Road became a scene of intense activity as rescuers struggled to find the boy.

The depth of the water at the spot the boy's body was found was only about two feet deep, but jutting with rock. "The depth of the water near the pier is about seven feet," Mr. Irvine said.

The boy is survived by his parents and a brother, John, 6, and a sister, Eileen, 8.

Funeral arrangements are being completed under the direction of the Murphy Funeral Home, 1002 Radcliffe St., Bristol.

Sunny Sunday Is Forecast

Considerable cloudiness will envelope Pennsylvania today with some scattered showers or thundershowers mostly in the central and western sections but mostly fair weather was forecast for tomorrow except for scattered showers in the mountains.

The cloudy, warm and humid weather was due to an area of low pressure extending along the southern border of Pennsylvania westward into a disturbance in the Central Plains. Little movement of the low pressure system (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Bristol Township PAL Fund Drive Starts; $5000 Goal

By GORDON PARKER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The Bristol Township Police Athletic League kicked off a $5,000 fund raising drive this week to finance its activities for the coming year.

The Board of Governors has sent out letters to industries in the area explaining the purpose of PAL and the need for money. In addition, board members will contact businessmen in the township.

PAL backers hope to get a full program of activities started this fall. The group was first set up in the fall of 1955 then reorganized last winter and spring. It was chartered as a non-profit organization last March.

Already some boys are practicing for one of the two football teams PAL plans to sponsor and enter in local leagues this fall. About 15 boys, between eight and 13 years old, practice every night on the grounds of the old Laurel Bend school under the guidance of William Surrick, of Maple Shade, who is helping police. The other team is for boys between 14 and 18.

Surrick reports that he will need more boys if he is to get two good teams.

It will take considerable money to uniform and equip the teams, he said.

Sgt. Richard Templeton, PAL president, added the group also hopes to initiate a basketball program this fall. There won't be any PAL league, he said, PAL teams will be entered in other leagues. He added that the group has enough basketball uniforms to supply seven teams.

Other planned activities are baseball, weight lifting and boxing. Patrolman Aaron Kelton, PAL secretary, reports the group would like to start a swimming program.

PAL now operates out of the

Army Band To Perform

MAJOR C. E. WHITE

Levittown will ring to the martial music of the U.S. Army Field Band and oldiers Chorus Monday in a Labor Day concert at the Levittown Shopping Center.

The outstanding Army unit, led by Major C. E. White, includes 110 musicians and 30 singers and will kick the program off at 7 p.m.

The performance is sponsored by the Levittown Kiwanis Club, the Grater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and the United States Army.

Music critics have been lavish in their praise of the Army band which includes many members who appeared with civilian "name bands."

The group attracted 17,000 persons last year in a performance at Philadelphia's Robin Hood Dell bandshell.

Organized in 1946, the outfit has traveled through Europe, Canada, Mexico, and all 48 states of the U.S.A. bringing music and cheer to military and civilian personnel.

The concert has been arranged by the Levittown Kiwanis Club.

ble. Dues are $1 a year to cover cost of insurance.

He added that the Laurel center is just a starting point. "We plan to have a center in Levittown and another in Croydon, when we get the program rolling and enough boys signed up."

In addition to Kelton and Templeton, other officers who helped reorganize the league are Sgt. Ernest Nuskey, executive director; Patrolman William Edmond, Treasurer, and Patrolman Robert Clark.

Finances, including prepa-

ing the budget and raising funds, are handled by a board of governors composed of business, industrial, civic and religious leaders. PAL gets no financial help from the township government.

Louis R. Hahn is president of the board; Robert Smith, secretary - treasurer. Francis J. O'Boyle is chairman of the current fund-raising drive. He is being assisted by Mrs. Reba Goebig.

Dusky singer Dorothy Dandridge, in a suit with Confidential over its failure to publish a promised apology for its story about her, might also be one of the performers held in the wings by the prosecution.

The magazine's attorney, Albert De Stefano, explained in testimony the singer's libel suit would cost too much to fight even though, he claimed, the story about her romance in the woods with bandleader Dan Terry was true.

The trial during the past week had fallen off its path of sensationalism into a mire of legal back-and-forth. But after the three-day holiday week end, it promises to blossom forth again with colorful activity more suitable to a street scene in a Hollywood production than the traditional decorum of a court room.

Sunny Sunday

Temperatures were expected to range from the middle 70's in the north to the 80's in other sections both today and tomorrow. Lowest overnight temperatures expected to range from the middle 50's in the north to the 60's elsewhere.

Properties Get Numbers In Tullytown

"I'm the big wheel of Tullytown," borough engineer William Major said at a coffee conference at the diner late the other night, and there was more truth than jest in his self-introduction.

Mr. Major is actually the man behind the wheel. The big wheel, part of his civil engineering equipment, is used in assigning numbers to properties in old Tullytown, across Route 13 and the Pennsylvania Railroad from Levittown.

Three Months

For three months now he has been seen pushing the wheel up and down Tullytown streets. It is attached to an odometer which measures off the distance. Every 15 feet, Mr. Major assigns a new number.

The wheel pushing is now 99 per cent complete, the engineer reported today, and Tullytown is 99 per cent numbered. Each property owner is promptly notified of his number, and ordered by Borough Council to post it on the building.

The numbers will be of immediate help to Tullytowners in getting deliveries from stores. House numbers will make it easy to appraise the properties of persons seeking loans. And they will be needed if Tullytown is ever to get mail deliveries.

Main St.

Numbers on Main St. start at the Bristol Township-end of town, continuing to the 800 block at the north end. Crosswise, the streets are numbered from the Delaware River. Main St. is 700 west.

Diagonal - cutting Falsington Ave. has its own number system, starting at the Main St. intersection. The fire station, for instance, is 156 Falsington Ave. The police station, upstairs, has its own number, 160.

Festival

After the Miss Levittown contest, the Levittown-A-Rae continues with dancing tonight in the mall and swimming and diving events in the Country Club pool tomorrow.

A county-wide swimming contest with performers from Doylestown, Morrisville, Richboro and Lower Makefield pools competing with the Levittown swimmers is set for tomorrow.

Closing event will be the Lower Bucks County Band concert tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m.

Horace McNab, secretary of the Levittown Businessmen's Association, will preside over tonight's Miss Levittown contest.

Exhibits and demonstration booths attracted attention of thousands of shoppers last night. Included among the exhibits was handiwork by Levittown Girl Scouts.

Police said the owner of the car, Phillip S. Stuart, 95 Upper Orchard Drive, Levittown, was a passenger, will be charged with permitting a violation.

Patrolmen Pat Meehan and Joseph Gallagher said Schipsi was taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital for a sobriety test, but the test was negative.

Welcome Set For Faculty In Township

Teachers of Bristol Township and Delhaas school systems will get together for orientation and recreation Tuesday—two days before classes start.

Highlight of the welcoming program will be a talk by Dr. George Z. F. Bereday, of Teachers College, Columbia University. Dr. Bereday, a native of Poland, will speak on "Universal education versus elite education."

His talk will be at a general meeting starting 10 a.m. Tuesday, in the auditorium of Delhaas High School. Dr. Guy F. Eberhart, regional superintendent, will introduce his new assistant, Dr. Warren D. Shepler.

Registration

Teachers will register for the program at 9 a.m. and join in a coffee hour in the cafeteria until the assembly starts. The coffee program will be under the supervision of the Bristol Township Teacher's Association.

In the afternoon there will be a second meeting of the teachers in the auditorium. Guy Petroziello, president of the township teachers Association, will preside at the meeting.

Tuesday Topper

Tuesday's program will be topped off with a reception and dance in the high school gymnasium for all professional employees and their guests.

Wednesday, teachers will get down to the task of preparing for their respective schools. The various principals will plan the day's activities.

Dr. Bereday is editor of the Comparative Education Review and joint editor of the Yearbook of Education. His experience includes a stint as an executive with the British Ministry of Education and a research post at the Russian Research Center at Harvard.

He reads several languages and has lectured, traveled, and broadcast widely.

In 1938, at 18, he joined the Polish Cavalry and later served with the British Parachute Regiment. He served at the Battle of Arnhem, Holland, in 1944, and has received Poland's highest military decoration. He became an American citizen in 1955.

Showdown Seen Near

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is getting ready for an early showdown meeting with the Soviet Union on disarmament prospects, officials said today.

Harold E. Stassen, top American disarmament adviser, was reported to believe that the "official" Moscow answer to the West's 11-point disarmament plan may be forthcoming Tuesday or Wednesday.

Stassen flew home from the London disarmament meeting after Soviet delegate Valerian A. Zorin sharply attacked the West's "package" disarmament move. Stassen conferred at the White House with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles shortly after arriving yesterday.

Police Pension

(Continued from Page One) available until the 1958 budget is planned. Committee chairman John V. Sawyer said benefits are half the amount of salary at the time of retirement.

A Bucks County Board of Review will be asked to decide the value of property desired for the Washington St. extension. Paul Sullivan is asking $20,000 for the property. The borough offered less than $10,000.

Right to Know Law In Effect Tomorrow

HARRISBURG (UP) — The state's new "right-to-know" law goes into operation tomorrow, climaxing a long fight by newspaper organizations for access to records and meetings of interest to the public.

The companion measures require that municipal bodies and some key state agencies have open deliberations and keep their files available for public inspection.

Numerous tests are expected of the new laws, particularly by newsmen. A tipoff was given this week on the effect of the laws when the General State Authority, one of the agencies coming under its provisions, when it held what was heralded as an "open meeting" prior to the effective date of the bills.

Reporters flocked to the meeting of the state's borrow-build agency because it was slated to allocate 50 million dollars in additional borrowing power. The 12-member authority never did get around to the 50 million dollars and handled only routine business, the group had held a prior "executive session" behind closed doors to iron out the day's business and settle any possible squabbles.

Labor Day

An estimated 45-million autos were expected to hit the asphalt trail during the 78-hour period, with 420 persons slated for death. This figure, the National Safety Council hoped, was "ridiculously high" and could be just that if motorists "meet the holiday hazards with extra patience and caution."

Council President Ned H. Dearborn, noting that estimates of the last two holidays had not been realized, said motorists could keep fatalities down to a normal holiday count of 375 by using the two "extras."

The United Press counted 437 deaths during the 1956 Labor Day weekend.

Ike Wades

GOP members of Congress pitched their criticism of the record on the fact that the legislative branch had failed to act on parts of the Eisenhower program and had given a good overhauling to other parts. But there was no ringing defense of specifics in the program, such as the budget, foreign aid and school programs, which drew about as much opposition from Republicans as from Democrats.

Those issues along with civil rights, tight money and inflation, and public power emerged as the political heritage of the 1957 session. On these latter issues, the Republicans find it more easy to unite behind Eisenhower.

Bristol Stores Change Hours

New shopping hours for the stores in Bristol's Mill Street Business Center will take effect tomorrow.

Formerly closed Wednesday afternoons, the stores will remain open. They will also be open Monday, Thursday, and Friday nights, as well as all day Monday through Saturday.

Bus Bounces Off 2 Cars

The car of a Levittown man was struck by a bus Thursday after the bus glanced off another car on Route 1, Janney.

Nine passengers and the driver of the bus, Albert F. Clea, 37, of Langhorne, were shaken up but uninjured in the accident. The bus is owned by Trenton-Philadelphia Coach Company.

Clea told Middletown Township police he skidded when he tried to stop the bus and glanced into the car of Isaiah Mack, 17, of Baltimore, Md. The impact forced the car into the rear of the automobile driven by William F. Graham, 47, Shelter Lane, Stonybrook, Levittown.

Damage to Graham's car was estimated at $375 and damage to the bus was $75.

Molotov

(Western observers noted, however, that there has been no mention of Maleakov's whereabouts or activities since Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev assailed him recently as a close associate of purged police boss Lavrenti P. Beria.)

Former Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov, the other principal member of the "Molotov group" which was expelled from leadership in the Kremlin last month for "anti-party" activity was last reported in a Moscow hospital.

A brief official announcement, broadcast by Radio Moscow and back-paged by today's Moscow newspapers, said Molotov will replace V. I. Pisarev as ambassador to Ulan Bator, the remote Mongolian capital. Pisarev will continue as minister counselor in the embassy.

Bracken Legion Plans Installation Night

New officers will be sworn in at the regular meeting of Robert W. Bracken American Legion Post 382 Tuesday at 8:30 p.m., William McCollick, outgoing commander, announced today.

Succeeding Mr. McCollick as Post commander will be Arthur Straccio. John Plebani will be installed as senior vice commander, Bubs Paglione as junior vice commander. Installing the officers will be Edward Willey, commander of the Ninth District.

Craft Camp Ends Season In Fallsington

Closing day activities were held yesterday at the William Penn Center Craft Camp, Fallsington.

"This concluded a highly successful eight week session," said Mrs. Barbara Weintraub, director. "During the camping period 600 youngsters, 4 through 10, representing 243 Lower Bucks families, enrolled."

"The children at camp," the Director continued, "were exposed to various arts media, singing, and folk dancing. Other activities were games, sports, and field trips to places such as Buckridge Farms, Feasterville; Walker-Gordon Dairy, Princeton; Cadwallader Park, Trenton; Snipes Farm, Rt. 1; and Morrisville Airport."

Parents were invited to closing day festivities. Counsellor Ann Rhoads directed her group of 8 to 10-year-old girls in dancing the Sicilian Tarantella. The two 4-year-old groups, under the direction of counsellors Gloria Gray, Levittown, and Marion Drews, Fallsington, danced and sang the "Hoky Pok."

Marcia Kalman, Levittown, 4, sang two solos. The performance was concluded by two groups of 8 to 10-year-old boys doing a square dance under the direction of counsellors Fred Weintraub, Levittown, and David Linforth, Hulmeville.

Awards were given for field day events which were at the camp grounds at the Center.
